

If All the World Was Apple Pie

Original version

If all the world was apple-pie,
And all the sea was ink,
And all the trees were bread and cheese,
What should we have for drink?
It's enough to have an old man
Scratch his head and think

Modern version

If all the world were apple pie,
And all the sea were ink,
And all the trees were bread and cheese,
What would we have to drink?
